

Contents

List of figures	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Note on transliteration and translation	xi
Introduction	1
PART I
The avowed internationalism	25
1 The propaganda of friendship	27
2 One world, one language?	57
PART II
The new outlook	87
3 Urban landscapes and socialist architecture	89
4 New clothes and socialist fashion	119
PART III
The public and the private	141
5 Soviet literature in 1950s China	143
6 Soviet literature in China's Cultural Revolution	171
Afterword	198
Index	205